Preview: The spiritual side of life is calling in this age as it has been ignored for too long by humanity. It was the energy of the last age that did not lend itself well to the unfoldment of the spirit. Focusing on THE INDIVIDUAL: The resulting loss of freedom and the ability to creatively address the problems of technology and the literal basic needs of masses of population have created great disparity between types of civilization. The erosion of the principal of freedom which is an intrinsic part of the democratic process has led to enormous bureaucracies and financial troubles for the leading countries. These difficulties will not go away until the responsibility of the individual as a part of the whole process has come home to all societies.
